AWARDS AND HONORS

Sabbatical leave, CSU-East Bay	Spring 2008
Best Practices in online Course Design, FLC, CSU-East Bay	Fall 2006-Spring 2007
Scholarships of Teaching & Learning Award, CUS-East Bay	Fall 2005-Spring 2006
Teachers/Scholars Award, California State University-Hayward	Fall 2004-Spring 2005
CEAS Online Learning Award, California State University-Hayward	Summer 2003
Advising Board, The Council of Preservice Technology	Fall 1997-Spring 2001
Software Award, The University of Michigan at Flint	Winter 2000
Marian Wright Grant, The University of Michigan at Flint	Fall, 1999
Software Award, The University of Michigan at Flint.	Winter 1998
Director, Student Association of English Department, NTNU	1984-1985

GRANTS

2007-2008, Graduate Recruitment Grant,
California State University at East Bay, Office of Graduate Studies, $ 500
The grant is to support the recruitment effect for Educational Technology Master Program.

2007-2008: Infusion of On-line Technologies into the Design of E-learning Environments, $ 6,038
California State University at East Bay, CA, USA and Qatar University, Iran
The grant is to support the faculty with $6,038 to teach an online course in Culture and Evolution of Educational Technology. Serve as a research assistant to the Principal Investigator of the Project.

2006-2007: Mathematics and Science Teachers Initiative
California State University at East Bay, Dept. of Teacher Education & Dept. of Physics, $ 2,000
The grant is to support the faculty with $2,000 to design a web site for the Mathematics and Science Teachers Initiative project which aims to provide CSUEB students opportunities to obtain their single subject credential in math and science while pursuing their B.A. degree.

2006-2007, Faculty Learning Community for Online Course Design,
CSU-EB, Office of Faculty Development, $2,000
The grant was to support faculty to design and develop an online course.

2006-2007, Graduate Recruitment Grant,
California State University at East Bay, Office of Graduate Studies, $ 500
The grant is to support the recruitment effect for Educational Technology Master Program.

2002-2003: Faculty Research Grants
California State University at Hayward, College of Education and Allied Study, WTC 2 units
The grant is to support the faculty with 2-unit course release time to investigate the impact of students' learning style and project-based learning strategies in Web authoring.

2001-2002: New Faculty Support Grants
California State University at Hayward, Office of Research and Sponsored Program, $ 4,875.00

The purpose of the study is to investigate the effects of collaboration and students' learning style on field dependency while involving in project-based learning activities in designing and developing Web pages.

2000: Software Award.
The University of Michigan at Flint, $ 1,009.40.
The project aims to enhance student teachers' technology capability in evaluating the quality of educational CD-ROM program in order to promote K-12 students' learning.

2000: First Lego League.
The University of Michigan at Flint, $ 1,000.00.
The goal of the program is to enhance student teachers' technology capability in robotic programming in order to promote K-12 students' creative learning.

1999: Marian Wright Grant in Support of Excellence in Teaching.
The University of Michigan at Flint, $ 300.00.
The grant was for supporting professional development to attend the technology training workshops at Notre Dame University on October 22, 1999.

1999. Student Teachers and WWW Training: Skills Development and Implications.
The University of Michigan at Flint, $ 482.00.
The research project purports to investigate how student teachers perceive the World Wide Web (WWW) as an instructional tool and what Web skills are needed and valuable in order to foster excellence in their teaching.

1998: How can the World Wide Web Assist urban Teachers in Building a Rich Curricular and Pedagogical Environment?
The University of Michigan at Flint, $ 9,179.71
The purpose of this project is to assist the Beecher Community Schools in building a rich curricular and pedagogical environment through the use of Web-based instruction.

1998: Improvement of Technology Training in Teacher Education via IBM Computers
University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, $ 13,128.00
The goal of our technology implementation program is to help our preservice teachers to meet the technology challenge and the learning needs of all students. Six state-of0-the-art IBM compatible computers were bought and placed in the Education computer lab.

1998: Software Award
University of Michigan at Flint, $ 1492.00
The goal of the program aims to enhance student teachers' technology capability in teaching and research in order to promote K-12 students' learning.
